SALE OF HOPS AND MALT TO THE PUBLIC IS NOW PROHIBITED

Janitor Paid Costs and Suit Was Dropped

The suit wherein George Guist, janitor of the Iowa school building was charged with a statutory crime alleged to have been committed upon the person of Annie Zilka, the eight year old daughter of George Zilka at the noon hour, November 10, was settled today after the trial before Justice Shuster. Several witnesses testified, but the little girl upon whom the assault was supposed to have been committed, was practically the only first hand witness.

She testified to having met the janitor while she and a companion, Edna Lamont, had gone to the basement to get a bucket of water with which to wash the blackboard. While the Zilka girl went to the toilet room the Lamont girl went upstairs. She alleged that Mr. Guist took hold of her and after disarranging her clothing let loose and she stated she ran upstairs and told her story to her teacher.

Miss Mildred Boarde, a teacher in the building, stated that the girl told her the story and that she at once had a complaint with other teachers, Drs. Kreger and Skirpan were called and examined the little girl, but found no evidence of assault and there was no indication that she had been harmed. George Zilka, the father, stated that his daughter had told the same story at home as she told before the justice.

The evidence of the defendant was not called for but he makes a stout denial of any attempt to harm the girl. He said when the children came to the furnace room for a bucket with watch to take water upstairs that he merely took hold of the child and escorted her to the bucket and that she went directly upstairs and that it was some time before he was aware of what was going on.

The justice said the evidence would hold the defendant only on a charge of simple assault and that the evidence did not sustain the statutory charge. Messrs Reamer and Smith represented Mr. Guist and Mr Zilka was without counsel. Mr. Zilka agreed to drop prosecution if the costs were paid, to which Mr. Guist expressed consent and the case will go no further.

$100,000 Fire

Fire practically destroyed the steel constructed tipple, and more than 800 tons of coal, at the Alicia plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Company, early yesterday morning.

The origin of the fire, which was discovered at 4:30, is thought to have been due to spontaneous combustion, and when discovered had gained considerable headway. A call for aid was sent the three Bronwsville companies, who were soon on the scene, and with the aid of the plant's own volunteer company, only after three hours steady fighting was the fire under control.

The fire yesterday means the laying off of about 260 employes, this includes 120 miners and 140 day men. It is not likely that the ovens at the plant will have to be suspended as they may be supplied by the plant at Alicia No. 2, the coal being brought down river in barges and unloaded.

The fire being in the tipple more than 75 feet above the ground, made the work of the firemen very difficult.

The amount of loss entailed would be very hard to estimate at this time, but will amount to more than $100,000.

Lost His Toe

The first local hunting accident of the season was reported yesterday when Jacob Willys, of 26 Reed avenue, returned from a hunting trip to Clarksburg, W. Va., with his right toe almost missing. The young man had rested the barrel of his gun on his toe when the weapon was discharged and his big toe shattered. A physician dressed the wound and he came to his home, where it was found that the amputation of the toe was necessary. He is now a patient in the Charleroi-Monessen hospital.

Railroader Injured

Frank L. Lehew, aged 29, residing at Belle Vernon, is confined to the Brownsville General hospital suffering from a probable dislocation of the right hip and probable internal injuries.

Lahew is employed by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie. He was working as a signal man and was struck by an empty gondola.

He was removed to the hospital in a state of semi- consciousness but soon after regained consciousness.

(By United Press)

Paris, Nov. 12—French delegates to the league of nations have been instructed to withdraw if Germany is admitted, according to the Echo De Paris.

The newspaper declared French delegates had instructed M. Bourgeois, Hanotaux, and Viviani to leave the assembly if other nations voted to admit Germany.

Paid Heavy Fine

Fred Vaux, a young colored lad, was before Acting Burgess Hunter this morning, charged with beating his common law wife. The prosecutor, a frail little woman weighing about 100 pounds, testified that the prisoner had knocked her down three times and when she attempted to escape from the house, he dragged her up the stairs and threw her on the bed where she was found by neighbors in a semi-conscious condition.

The police were notified and arrested the man, who had little defense to offer at the hearing. He was fined $25.00 and costs and in addition had a $7.00 doctor bill to pay.

Three other young fellows, giving fictitious names, were arrested for being drunk and disorderly. They plead guilty and paid fines of $3.00 and costs.

Had Two Wives

Tom Kolic, an Austrian millworker of Monessen, was the defendant in an unusual bigamy case. Tom was married twenty-three years ago to a school girl sweetheart in his native town on the banks of the "Blue Danube." Nineteen years ago Tom came to America, "The land of promise" leaving his frau at home. He wrote back to his wife, he testified and several years ago, he said, some friends informed him that his wife had died.

On May 27, 1920, Kolic married Pauline Zinkovitch. Joe Turkay, a relative, by marriage, is the prosecutor and he charges that Kolic's first wife is still alive and that she lives in Austria.

Narrow Escape

M. Kaufman, a salesman for the Pittsburgh Waste Goods Company, had a narrow escape from serious injury or death Thursday afternoon when, while driving the Ford car down the steep grade on Reed Ave., the brakes refused to work and the car plunged over the embankment to Ninth street, just as the car made the fatal plunge, Mr. Kaufman jumped and escaped with only a few bruises. The car was practically wrecked.

To Hold Dance

The members of the Musical Auxiliary have completed arrangements for their annual winter dance to be held Monday evening, November 22, in the Croatian hall. Invitations to the affair will be issued personally by members of the club. The Morrill's Bell Hop Orchestra of Portsmouth, O., has been secured for the occasion, assuring those who are fortunate enough to secure invitations the best possible music.

RADICALS ARRESTED HERE FACE LONG PRISON TERMS AND MAY BE DEPORTED

John Sergiako and Gregory Olesko two members of the local branch of the Communist party will spend the next ten years in the Western Penitentiary unless the United States government deports them in the meantime to their native country, Russia. Both men were arrested last spring during the strike in this section after they had been caught passing literature of a seditious nature in Donora. The arrest was made in Donora by Chief Smedley and Constable Titus and the two men instead of being turned over to the Department of Justice officials, were sent to the Washington county jail for investigation.

Following this investigation sufficient evidence was secured to bring the men to trial under the state sedition act of 1919 and the men were called for a hearing. This was the first case held in the state under the new act and the jury quickly returned a verdict of guilty.

Judge McIlvaine in passing sentence, stated that he would make the sentence such that the United States if it so desired could during the life of their sentence, make preparations for the prisoners' deportation. The sentence was intermittent of one to ten years. The prisoners will spend the first year in the workhouse and if they are still incarcerated and not on their way to Russia, the judge will then send them to the penitentiary for ten years.

Both men were members of the Communist party in this city and were active in the radical demonstrations in the valley. John Yankovich, a young foreigner, who was a members of the State Police, secured the greater part of the evidence against the two men and was the star witness at the trial. The young trooper resigned his position to accept one with the Department of Justice and coming to this city he secured employment in the mills and later joined the Communist party here where he secured valuable information as to their plans, which were in turn turned over to the Department of Justice resulting in the arrest of many of the leaders, fifteen of whom were later deported.

Manufacturers of Home Brew Will Suffer by Latest Ruling

Washington, Nov. 11.—Home brewing was brought actively under the prohibition ban today when it was learned that enforcement officials had ruled against the sale of hops and malt to others than bakers and confectioners. Great secrecy surrounded the prohibition bureau's action, but it was definitely ascertained that such instructions had been issued.

The only admission made by prohibition officials, in the absence of Commissioner Kramer, was that the Volstead act had been construed to mean that the sale of hops and malt as component parts of home-made beer were within the ban of the law and their sale must stop. Enforcement officials throughout the country have been notified of the government's determination, but they have not been supplied with the technical language of the decision.

The construction of the law which results in the new orders was made nearly two months ago. At that time officials having it in charge started a document through the regular procedure, from which it emerges as a treasury decision, but it has not yet been approved by Secretary Houston.

Emphatic denial was made to the report that the new ruling included in the order that hops used in home brewing might be likewise denied that product. It will be used for the brewing of beer by bakers and confectioners.

There were persistent rumors at both the prohibition and internal revenue headquarters that scores of complaints had come from the manufacturers of near beverages containing less than one half of 1 per cent of alcohol against the trend of the growth of brewing as a home industry.

It was suggested the beverage manufacturers may soon be forced on a strictly cereal or cease operations, since they depend for the growth of their trade. They were understood to have protested to the attorney general that enforcement agents were enforcing the alcoholic content as to them, while the home brewers were with hops and malt, had been able to produce a beverage approximating 6% alcoholic beer.

Officials are hopeful that the ban on malt and hops will bring a wave of indignation as to the government's rights. They claimed, however, that the country had been prepared by thorough study and said they were prepared to meet the attack.

Such a ruling automatically prohibits the sale of original parts of malt, as well as the formal advertising of hops for its manufacture, which has one of the foundations for the ruling. The point which they expect to be tested in court is whether the food value of the two articles named would, in the eyes of a court, permit their continued sale as such, despite their use as a basis for beverage making.

The line of demarkation between the sale of the articles which can and will and legitimate sugars and syrups can scarcely be regarded as rather elementary, but those having the question in charge advised they were safe in so doing.

(By United Press)

Washington, Nov. 12.—Organization now is trying to add 1,000,000 new members to its ranks. Vice President Frank Duffy, of the American Federation of Labor, announced here today. The effort constitutes labor's acceptance of the challenge of employers who, labor leaders charge, plan to establish a non-union shop and depress wages.

"We plan to have more than 5,000,000 members by the end of the year," said Duffy, who is here attending session of the executive council of the federation. Organized labor, at its recent national convention in Montreal, claimed a total membership of 4,000,000 men and women workers.

Called by Death

Mrs. Emma Brechbill, wife of former county commissioner George Brechbill of Uniontown, died at 9:15 o'clock Tuesday morning at the home of her brother-in-law in Los Angeles, California.

Mrs. Brechbill had been in poor health for some time and suffered from chronic Bright's disease. A year ago she went to Detroit for treatment and later went to visit her sister in Los Angeles. Her death, although not unexpected by relatives, came suddenly. Mrs. Brechbill was 65 years old. She was the daughter of the late Dr. J. N. Morrison of Donegal.

Supporters of League Seek Ratification

(By United Press)

Washington, Nov. 12—A program of publicity is shortly to be launched by League of Nations supporters in an effort to create public sentiment that will force the senate to ratify the treaty and the league covenant, was learned here today.

The publicity, which is to go out through several channels, is to be directed to putting before the people the consequences which league supporters say will follow America's continued absence from the membership of the league.

In addition, the people are to be told that assurances given them that Europe will accept almost anything America proposes in the way of an association of nations are false.

Recent statements by French and German statesmen are to be used as the basis for most of the publicity. Domestic business conditions will furnish the text for the rest of it.

A recent statement by Baron Kurt von Lersner, in charge of German propaganda, is already being quoted. Von Lersner, addressing a reichstag committee, was reported to have said that all Germans should unite in "enemy countries" particularly England and the United States, for revision of the treaty.

Alleged Pickpockets

Roger Boyd and William Davis, two colored fellows who claimed to hail from Akron, Ohio, were taken off the 7:37 train last night by an officer and this morning they faced Justice Shuster on a warrant charging them with disorderly conduct and being suspicious persons. It was alleged at the hearing that the men attempted to rob a passenger on the train below Monongahela City. The man informed the conductor of his experience with the men and they were brought to Monessen and the above charge lodged against them. They stoutly denied the accusation but the evidence against them was convincing and they were fined $25.00 and costs each which they cheerfully paid and promised to get out of town on the first train.

Entertainment Tonight

The members of the Fine Arts Quartette arrived in town early today for their appearance here this evening as the second attraction of the Board of Trade Entertainment course. They will present a musical sketch at the High school auditorium beginning promptly at 8:15 this evening. The members of the quartette will wear costumes in keeping with the numbers presented in the program and the entertainment promises to be most interesting. There are still a few available seats for those not holding season tickets. The doors will open promptly at 7:30 p. m.

Membership Drive

Ready For Roll Call

A. J. McGinness, general chairman of the Fourth Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross, has announced the chairmen, who will assist him during the membership drive of next week. W. A. Michener will be chairman of the Belle Vernon chapter and Mrs. William Booth will act as chairman of the Webster chapter.

Monessen will be divided into wards with Miss Hazel Chamberlin, chairman in the First Ward, Mrs. John S. Duvall, chairman in the second ward and Mrs. John O'Brien, chairman in the Third Ward. The business district of the town will be taken care of by C. Fred Mentzer. Each one of the chairman in the various wards will appoint a committee to assist in making a thorough canvass of the town.

Sunday in all the churches in the city, the ministers will mention the Roll Call of the Red Cross and will urge their congregations to lend their moral and financial assistance to the worthy cause.

The Monessen-Belle Vernon chapter is one of the most active in the state and has done much good in the district. A communitty nurse is employed by the chapter and her services are in such great demand that lately an automobile was purchased in order that she might make hurried calls to outlying districts. Miss Scholicart's services are donated to any in need and individuals as well as physicians can call on her for assistance. The nurse is also available for cases other than charity, but in no case will she accept more than sixty cents or less than 10 cents for her services, this low fee being received by persons who need her services but don't want to be classed as charity patients. The money thus secured is not kept by the nurse, but turned into the Red Cross Association.

Invitations Issued

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Thomas D Sorrotos of this city and Miss Bessie Viola Arrigo of Belle Vernon, which will be an event of Thanksgiving Day. The ceremony will take place in the Mother of Sorrows Italian Catholic church at Seventh street and Fallowfield avenue, Charleroi, at ten o'clock and a reception for the newlyweds will be held at seven o'clock in the evening at the Turner hall, this city. The bride to be is the daughter of Mrs. Bessie Arrigo of Belle Vernon and is a popular young lady in her community. Mr. Sorrotos is a bustling young business man of this city having been connected with the Sorrotos Clothing Co. at Third street for a number of years.

Great White Way

Several enterprising Sixth street business men have acted greatly to the attractiveness of the thoroughfare at night by having two large electric lights placed at the corner of Sixth street and Donner avenue. The lights are much brighter than the ordinary street lights, and this is the first step towards making Sixth street the great white way of the down town business section.

FIFTH AVENUE MEAT MARKET & GROCERY

Earns $20,000 Yearly

New York, Nov. 12.—"There is only one perfect profession for the woman of middle age and for the widow," says Caroline Plows. "and that is the profession of shopper for those living out of town."

Mrs. Plows should know. She is a widow and she is making something like twenty thousand a year at the game—she lives extremely well, is happy and is the pride of her friends.

"Why do I say that the trade of professional shopper is the ideal trade for the middle-aged woman and the widow? Because for the middle-aged woman there is loneliness when her children have married, and for the widow, sorrow when her husband has died, and the one cure for such evils is contact with other human beings and their little anxieties and foibles and vanities—and all these you come in close contact with when you are shopping for them

"I have come to know women all over the west—I have learned that there is no woman with so much taste as the woman who cannot see what is called the 'latest style'—I have discovered that no women are so particular and so well-dressed as those who live in a town with one butcher shop and one bandstand and who have a dream in their hearts of the great metropolis and what its styles must be.

"I have learned that the men in small towns are far more generous to their women folk than men of the city. A man in Kalamazoo ordered $100 worth of stockings for his wife for Christmas—a man in New York will think he has done a lot if he has bought her one pair at five"

WILD WOMEN REAL LOVERS

By Mrs. Osa Johnson

New York, Nov 12—The wildest wild women in the world can teach American brides something of real love.

Wherever we went in Borneo and the New Hebrides I was struck by the wonderful married life of the savage tribesmen

Living and loving in America is, in most cases, a necessity or a pastime practiced by women as a means of support. In the South Sea Islands the women help the men—they love and live and work for their husbands.

Almost any Borneo woman could instruct the average American woman in real love making.

Marriage is a simpler thing in the wilds than here. There is no real ceremony. A tribesman chooses the woman he will have as wife and tells his chief. The woman is summoned and the chief knocks out her two front teeth. Then she's married. The man may divorce her by simply telling his chief

But there are few divorces in the islands. A woman is trained from childhood to love, honor and obey the husband who chooses her, and from the time her teeth are knocked out her life is one of cheerful, patient conduct with no questions asked.

The wife does most of the work and the more work she does the better her husband likes her. She carries a 150-pound pack of yams on hill and down dale without a murmur

One never hears of the "eternal triangle" in Borneo. The women are too busy to do

Where the American woman uses a lipstick, the Borneo woman achieves the same result by chewing betelnut. When a girl turns 15 she begins to eat the nut. The nut turns her teeth a deep black, but her lips become a beautiful red. The teeth are filed to sharp points. The New Hebrides savages have queer shaped head. The effect is gained by swaddling the head of new born infants with a tight wadding of cocoanut fiber.

Some of the Borneo women are attractive, almost beautiful, but as they become early victims of beauty, leaves them

The Polynesian are governed by the law of tapu or "taboo" and one of the "taboo" prohibits persons there from washing, or for that matter, even going near water

I saw a woman 80 years old who [illegible] and a bath. Her skin had [illegible] by long exposure until I do not believe it could have been [illegible]

Instead of a ring for the finger the Borneo married woman wears a ring of wood through her nose. When she breathes one is reminded of a great steam whistle

Body combs very useful and attractive but I must repeat that [illegible] wilderness would lack many an American woman [illegible] of the true gentleness of life

CAN'T RUSH TO SAGHALIEH

Japanese Government Bars All but Business Firms Approved by War Office.

There will be no rush of adventurers to the new fields for exploitation opened up by the Japanese occupation of Russian Saghalien, according to Mr. Murakami, chief of the fishery bureau of the department of agriculture and commerce, who is quoted in the Yomiuri:

"None except those who really mean business and are in a position to seriously transact business will find any place for them in Saghalien," said M. Murakami. "All rights there are in the hands of the military command, and anyone that wants to go there, now must obtain a permit from the war office. Certainly the forests there will yield plenty of wood pulp and other raw material, while there are rich coal mines and possibly oil wells. But the chief product of that region is the output of the fisheries."

Speaking of the fishing rights in Saghalien, Mr. Murakami said that after consultation with the army command an auction was conducted at Nikolaievsk for those rights over which the army command is able to furnish protection. No detailed report of the auction has been received. The bidders had to file their applications with a deposit to guarantee their good faith, and they had to be persons who were qualified by long experience in fisheries in that neighborhood.

The Yomiuri says that many reputable business establishments have been holding back from enterprises in Saghalien for fear of the competition of adventurers and the hurt their reputations might suffer in a mad scramble for rights and concessions.—Japan Advertiser.

HOLDING CHEMICAL TRADE

Statistics Show That United States Has Been Able to Hold High Mark Set During War.

Official statistics for the fiscal year 1920 demonstrate that this country has been able to keep its trade in chemical and allied products very near the high mark set during the war, despite the loss of markets for purely war supplies and despite the pressing demands that must be met in the domestic market.

Such is the conclusion reached by O. P. Hopkins, a well-known statistician, writing in the Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

"In almost all lines except munitions," he writes, "the exports in 1920 exceeded in value those of 1918, a fact that can be explained in some cases, perhaps, by rising prices, but which nevertheless warrants the assertion that the position has not been weakened. These exports, which very greatly exceed those of the last normal prewar year, are made up almost entirely of manufactured products.

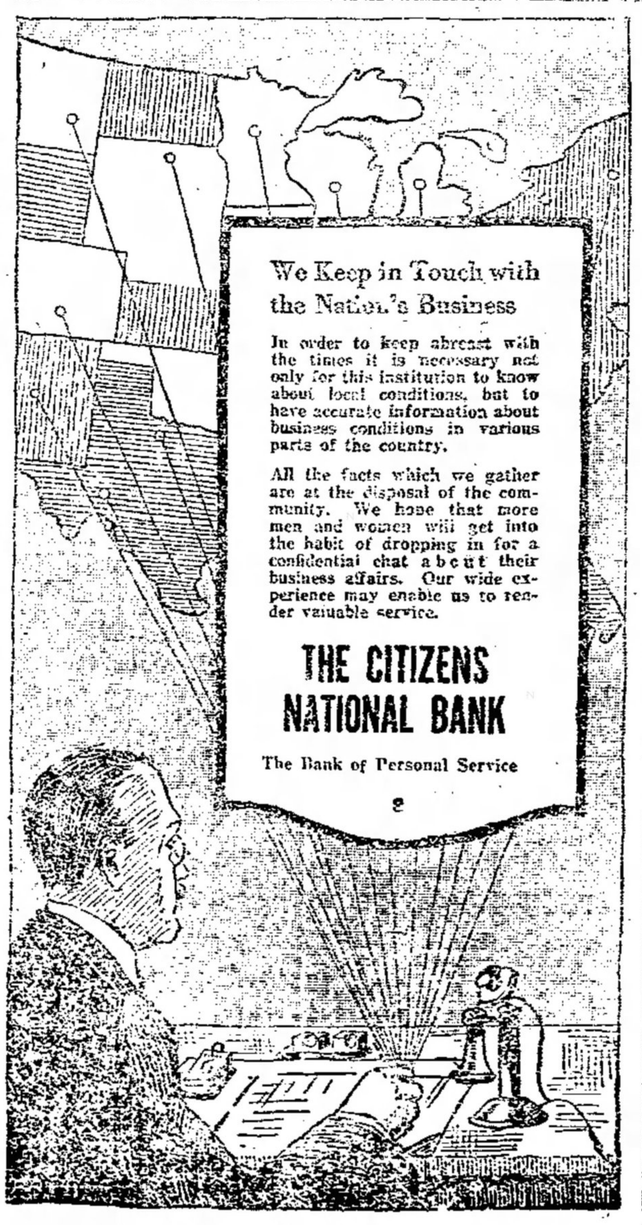
"Imports have more than held their own and comprise raw and partly manufactured products required for further advancement by American chemical manufacturers."

Sea Lion Leather.

Large numbers of sea lions on the British Columbia coast which destroy annually vast quantities of fish food may be slaughtered and their hides placed on the world's leather market, if a proposition which comes from Premier Oliver and has the approval of many experienced fishermen, is carried out. The sea lion weighs from 2,000 to 2,500 pounds, the hides being nearly an inch thick. These hides make a tough and durable rough leather such as is used in workmen's gloves and in saddles. It is stated that these animals will eat 50 pounds of fish in a day. Four hunters recently killed several hundred sea lions in one day in Charlotte Islands.—Scientific American.

"Lotus Eaters."

Few flowers have been more identified with the world's history than the mysterious lotus of Egypt. The phrase "lotus eaters" is a common one in literature, and is used to describe those who live in a dream world. The food made from the dried seeds of the Egyptian variety seems to have had an effect similar to various opium products, and once in the clutch of the drug the lotus eaters forget both past and family, and went mooning about, oblivious of demands made by society, kin, or even their own physical wants.



We Keep in Touch with the Nation's Business

In order to keep abreast with the times it is necessary not only for this institution to know about local conditions, but to have accurate information about business conditions in various parts of the country.

All the facts which we gather are at the disposal of the community. We hope that more men and women will get into the habit of dropping in for a confidential chat about their business affairs. Our wide experience may enable us to render valuable service.

The Seal of Satisfaction
The Monroe Label guarantees you satisfaction and the price ticket attached to each garment is the nation-wide guaranty of standard Monroe Clothes Prices.

Four Reasons
Why the Extra Pair of Trousers Saves

If you should stain, soil, or tear your trousers—
the other pair of your Monroe Clothes double service suit goes right into work—no inconvenience.

If you should get caught in the rain—just slip into the other Monroe pair of trousers and keep your after-dinner engagement in New York's best style.

If you want twice the wear—
Monroe Clothes give it to you in the extra pair.

If you want convenience—
perpetual crease, style and satisfaction in your personal appearance, just alternate the trousers; wear one, while having the other pressed.

Make up your mind to get one of these Monroe Two Trouser Thrift suits to-day. It will be one of the soundest investments you can make. And the prices, $40, $50 and $60, are no higher, even less than those quoted on suits elsewhere, that bring but one pair.

Fordson
TRADE MARK

There are many tractors clamoring for the patronage of the farmer. The very air is charged with the noise of claims. One would think that all the farmer had to do was to buy a Tractor and he would enter into the Millenium.

Well, consider this fact—there are a great many different makes of Tractors. Tractors have been on the American market for twenty years. In that time some three hundred thousand Tractors have been sold to the farmers in the United States. The Fordson Tractor has only been on the market two years, and in that time more than one hundred thousand Fordson Tractors have been sold to the farmers of the United States.

Two and two make four. Two and two will always make four. If the Fordson Tractor had not delivered more good work, more satisfactory work, more economical work than any other farm Tractor, it would not have sold in the ratio of anywhere from five and more to one. "The proof of the pudding is in the eating." The proof of the superior merits of the Fordson Tractor is in its larger sale and use.

The Fordson Tractor then asks you to buy it because of what it has done for your neighbors. It asks you to buy it on its merit. It asks to buy it Mr. Farmer because you have use for it every day in the year. All the uses for the Fordson Tractor have not yet been uncovered because new places where machine power can take the place of human power, where machine power can supplant horse and mule-power, are being found every week, and whenever such discovery occurs, the Fordson Tractor will fill the bill more satisfactorily than any other form of power.

The Fordson is simple in design, and it is very strongly made of the highest quality of iron and steel. It is the product of the greatest mechanical genius the world has ever known, and it is most economical in first cost and after expense. The Fordson Tractor on your farm will increase the value of every foot of ground in that farm. It will put more dollars and cents into every hour you put into the farm.

Why not have a Fordson right away? Take up the subject with us. Come in and get the details, and all the particulars. It is only a matter of time until you buy a farm Tractor—that is sure. So don't put it off when it means money to you to get promptly.

REPUBLICAN IN POLITICS

AN APPEAL TO THE HEART

Before the war people lived along largely unconscious of whatever hunger and other physical distress existed in the world. An agency like the Red Cross, devoted to the relief of suffering in special emergencies, found it difficult to secure the full co-operation it should have had and it secured no very large membership. Drives would be made for special collections in behalf of sufferers from some conspicuous disasters. But in general people went their ways heedless of the cry of distress that is always going up from afflicted ones.

Also there was at that time very little feeling of responsibility for suffering existing outside this country. The fact that human beings were starving in great multitudes in other lands or perishing for lack of warm clothing, aroused little attention in this country. "Let George do it" was the popular attitude.

The war created an amount of misery in the world previously undreamed of. It was so vast and sad that people could no longer ignore it. As this world suffering forced itself on the attention of people living in comfortable surroundings, there arose a new feeling of responsibility to assist people in distress wherever they were located.

The man wth a heart could hardly go on living in selfish comfort or luxury in this country, if he had done nothing to help relieve those in other lands who were dying of hunger and cold. So it came about that the Red Cross has become able to raise sums of money for its noble work that previously would have been regarded as far out of reach.

The annual Red Cross roll call, November 11-25 is aimed to give everyone a chance to show interest in this noble work. It would seem in this time of world affliction, that everyone with a dollar and a heart would wish to help. So don't wait to see if some solicitor calls on you, but hand in your dollar and your name.

WORCESTER SAVINGS PLAN

What is called the "Worcester Savings Plan" of encouraging thrift among wage earners was presented to the recent convention of the American Bankers Association at Washington, as a scheme that might well be adopted all over the country.

This plan has been tried out for a year at Worcester, Mass. By consent of factory employes, as a result of a campaign conducted by savings bank officials in the factories, the workmen consent to have a regular portion of their wages deducted and put on deposit to their credit in some local savings bank.

There are now 5,600 operatives who are co-perating in this plan. It greatly increases deposits in the banks.

It creates a fund out of which houses can be built, and which can be loaned to assist manufacturing and farm operations in the neighborhood. Such a plan should be of great benefit to any community where it is energetically pushed.

So many people holding positions of financial trust, have betrayed their obligations during the last few years, that the bonding companies are having to rewrite the costs of fidelity policies. The security companies have never been called upon to meet such heavy losses.

The temptations that entice men holding positions of trust are more severe than ever before. Their salaries have not commonly kept pace with the costs of living. To give their families the same good living as formerly many of them are tempted to speculation. When they meet losses the temptation to slip money over from their trust funds is very strong. Usually they mean to repay. But the speculative machine breaks them.

With all this spirit of dishonesty abroad, it is a time to handle money very cautiously. When you go away from Monessen to invest money, you are putting it in the hands of strangers concerning whom you know nothing. Better keep it at home where you know the people who handle it.

The women voters emerged from the polls with somewhat the same air of satisfaction with which Pa comes out from the woodshed bearing the battered remains of the traditional shingle.

It is hard to get college professors salaries advanced by contributions from lovers of education, but perhaps they could accomplish it by giving them some of the football receipts.

Modern political debaters are too polite to call each other "liars." They merely charge each other with being mendacious prevaricators.

Agents are beginning to come around from door to door, and even if you can't use their stuff, you can afford to pay to get rid of them.

The fool drivers who "step on the gas" are mighty lucky if later they can walk sufficiently to step into the hospital.

The coasting season began early this year with the Republican landslide of November 2.

RIVERS TURNED INTO SEWERS

Streams That Once Were Famous London Thoroughfares Now Are Far Under the Ground.

The river Tyburn, which, along with the Thames, helped to make Westminster, in London, an island in Saxon times, can still be traced from the Marble arch neighborhood to Westminster. It originally flowed through Hyde park and St. James' park at a time when these were marshlands. Several feet below the pavement in Great College street are the remains of a bridge which spanned the Tyburn at this spot just before it entered the Thames.

But the most famous of all the buried rivers of London is undoubtedly the Fleet. It flowed through Jack Ketch's warren, where dwelt at times such notorious characters as Dick Turpin and Jack Sheppard. It was a favorite dodge of the highwaymen and other thieves who infested the district of Saffron hill and Hatton garden to drop through a trapdoor to the Stygian banks of the Fleet, pull a plank after them and so escape capture by the Bow street runners. The Fleet ditch ran into the Thames at Blackfriars, and small craft used to put into it with merchandise.

In the middle of the city was the Wellbrooke, and on the east side the Langbourne, and in the western suburbs the pleasant stream of the Oldbourne, also deep enough to accommodate good-sized craft. Other London rivers not yet wholly sewers are the Roding, the Lea, the Ravensbourne and the Wandle, but the Brixton is no longer visible anywhere.

HER IDEA OF LUXURIES

Middle-Aged Negress Tells Mistress How She Will Spend $600 Insurance Left by Her Husband.

A middle-aged negro woman of Richmond was left some $600 insurance by her husband, and shortly afterward, when asked by the lady for whom she had cooked for many years what she intended to do with her money, declared that she meant to spend it on luxuries.

"Yo' see, Miss Mary, Ah done wuck hard all mah life, an' ain't had nuffin' but des necessities, an' Ah's gwine blow in dis money," she explained.

"How are you going to spend it, Mandy?"

"Ah is gwine buy me a phonygraf, an' two silk dresses, an' a dimont ring, an' marry Jack Thompson," Mandy declared happily.

"Marry Jack Thompson? Why, Mandy, he is nothing but a worthless loafer, a dressed up dude who tries to be a 'sport!'"

"Yassum, Ah knows dat," Mandy agreed, "but, Jack Ah said, Ah wants some luxuries. My ole man was a good nigger, but he sho' was sorry to look at. Now, dis Jack Thompson, he gwine be jest plumb ornamental, settin' round de house all day."

The Roman Coliseum.

The Roman coliseum was the largest and most splendid of the buildings known in architecture as amphitheaters, which the Romans invented for exhibiting gladiatorial combats, fights of wild beasts and other spectacles. The repetition of arch beyond arch and story over story gives this amphitheater its towering grandeur. This principle of reduplication of parts, of which the Gothic architects afterwards made so much use, is carried to a greater extent than in any other Roman building. It did not have a roof. The upper story is not arched like the three lower stories, but solid and with pilasters. Some architects think it was meant wholly for the purpose of supporting and working the great velarium or silk awning that covered the arena during the representation, which may not have been attempted when the amphitheater was first erected.

TREE WAS ONCE A HANDSPIKE

Old Cottonwood at Norris City, Ill., Has Interesting History—Was Planted by Boy in 1815.

At Norris City, Ill., there is a tree known as the "vaulting-pole cottonwood" that has an interesting history which is told by the American Forestry Magazine (Washington) as follows:

Hosea Pierce and a boy comrade returned from the war of 1812 to their homes, near Norris City, in the spring of 1815, and on January 8 of that year they had helped General Jackson whip the British in the Battle of New Orleans.

These boys both attended a log rolling on the old Pierce farm that spring, and as they were returning to the house after their day's work made a wager who could vault the furthest, using their cottonwood handspikes as vaulting poles. They both left their handspikes sticking in the soft earth where they had vaulted, and during the spring rains of 1815 they both took root and lived.

One of these trees died about ten years ago, but the other is still living and is 105 years old. This tree is about thirty feet in circumference, 175 feet high, with a very large hollow in the base of the tree which has been used as a housing for setting hens, a kennel for dogs and is always a fine playhouse for children.

CLOUDS ARE EARTH'S VEIL

If Seen From the Moon They Would Appear as Mere Film Separating the Earth.

The layer of cloud covering the earth is relatively very thin. If, for example, we could examine the earth from the moon we would doubtless see a veil of cloud covering little more than half the surface. At that distance the clouds would have no texture, the earth would appear swathed in an irregular sheet of formless vapor, through which, from time to time, the land and water areas could be seen.

The cloud cover of the earth is most attenuated; it may be compared to a film, for it is supposed to be less than one-eight-hundredth of the earth's diameter in vertical thickness.

The thinness of the earth's atmosphere may be more clearly comprehended if we realize that the relative thickness of the cloud layer on an eight-inch terrestrial globe would be about one-hundredth of an inch. Yet it is in this thin belt that clouds form, so that it is seen our weather is produced within limited confines.

Strikers Defeated

By CARL D. GROAT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Berlin, Nov. 12—The German government was triumphant today in its first clash with radical workmen who attempted to emulate Italian workers in the seizure of plants.

Metal factories seized by strikers were abandoned when police surrounded them. There was no violence, the workers realizing that they would be starved out if they did not yield. In like manner a "soviet" which seized a gas plant on the north side of the city was compelled to withdraw.

Electrical workers returned after a strike of two weeks. The government had recruited a staff of students and experts to replace them.

Despite these settlements officials feared this early restlessness among workers portended a series of strikes greater than occurred in Germany last winter. Lack of employment and increasing food prices were recognized as a disturbing influence. At the same time Russian agitators are busy throughout the republic, urging workers to rise.

Street cars went into service this morning for the first time in a week and factories dependent on electrical current for power began resuming operations. Unemployment here was relieved somewhat by this occurrence.

New York, Nov. 12—Police and secret service agents display renewed vigor today in their investigation of the Wall street bomb outrage, following publication of a theory that the infernal machine was set off in the course of war between rival house-wrecking unions.

Police let it be known that they had identified the blacksmith who shod the horse which drew the bomb wagon and also had identified the man who took the horse to be shod.

Both names were withheld. The man who took the horse to be shod has not yet been apprehended.

William Zaranko, head of one of the housewreckers' unions, denied that his men had anything to do with the bomb. He was questioned at the department of justice offices late yesterday, but was not detained.

By WEBB MILLER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, Nov. 12—Strikes and slackened business in Europe have left 1,500,000 workers idle.

Exact figures were not available today but the British labor ministry put the number of unemployed at a million and a half as a conservative estimate.

In Great Britian there are 200,000 men drawing unemployment pay from the government but there are ten of thousands more who have not benefitted by the payments.

(By United Press)

Great Lakes, Ill., Nov. 12—A fleet of airplanes continued to search today for the missing navy seaplane S-2-L, which left here Wednesday morning with a crew of three aboard and was last seen Wednesday afternoon riding the waves, 12 miles off Sheboygan, Wis.

Hope that any of the crew have survived was abandoned by experienced seamen today. They say that it would have been impossible for the plane to stay above water in the seething snowstorm and seventy mile wind which roughened the waters last night.

A rescue cutter and a sub chaser were at work along the shore today searching for a trace of the missing plane. They are keeping in touch with shore stations by wireless.

The S-2-L was comanded by E. M. Clarke, of Peoria, Ill. Clark is the son of a New York manufacturer, but was employed at Peoria. He was using two weeks vacation to take a course for reserve officers at the naval training station here.

It is expected that a thousand foot ball fans from this city will go to Pittsburgh tomorrow to witness the annual clash between the University of Pittsburgh and W. & J. football teams at Forbes field. The entire seating capacity of the big park has been sold out several weeks ago and standing room will be at a premium.

Black's restaurant in the Sheetz hotel building, will reopen tomorrow Saturday, Nov. 13, under new management. Courteous treatment will be given to all. Give us a trial. 1tp

The Chicken and Waffle Supper to be given Nov. 16 and 17 in the K. of C. hall at Eighth street by the St. Leonard's church has been changed to a turkey supper. Supper will be served from 5 to 9. 34-5t

Miss Marie Baker entertained last evening with a party at her home, 111 Knox avenue. About fifty young friends responded to the invitations and a pleasant evening was spent in playing games. Music also enlivened the occasion. At a late hour a delicious lunch was served by the hostess' mother, Mrs. James Baker. The guests then departed for their homes.

There will be a bake sale held in Eddy's Drug Store Saturday afternoon under the auspices of Division 1, 2 and 3 of the Missionary Society of the Christian church. 33-3t

Bargains in Ford cars. One Ford touring car, 1917 model, one Ford touring car model 1919, one Ford touring car, model 1920, also three Ford one ton trucks. Inquire Tyrol Pass Garage, end of street car line, Monessen. 30-6t

The Star theatre was packed beyond capacity last night to witness a refined comedy vaudeville bill. Reese and Rolland were a decided hit and their talking violin created many favorable comments.

Bert Marshall pleased with comedy songs and chatter.

Shean & Ruth entertained in a comedy singing and talking skit.

Wilbur & the Spencer Sisters appeared in a unique and original novelty act that was out of the ordinary. The feature photoplay was Harry Carey in "Sundown Slim," and showed Human Harry Carey at his best. The same bill and picture will be repeated tonight.

Editor Daily Independent:—

While passing through your town yesterday, Armistice Day, I was surprised to see only four or five flags on display. There was not even a flag on the borough building and least of all the Honor Roll, which is of good size for a town like yours and of which the town should be proud of. Is this all the people of Monessen think of the boys who were over there, some never to return, or is it that some think these names and the deeds done by these men are not worthy of memory.

I hope you will publish this in your paper and try to make the people realize what these names mean to them, and that a flag at least on the Honor Roll would make the men who see it realize that they had not fought in vain and that their sacrifices were appreciated by the people at home. Hoping that in the next celebration of this kind your town will at least have the Honor Roll decorated.

Patriotic Citizen.

P. S.—Honor them while they are living, not after they die.

London, Nov. 12.—The Irish Home Rule Bill, promised for more than a decade, went to the House of Lords for approval today. It passed commons on third reading last night.

The bill went to third reading after William Adamson, labor member moved its rejection. Adamson demanded immediate withdrawal of British forces from Ireland and the calling of a constituent assembly to draft a constitution which would be acceptable to the crown. His motion lost

Under the present bill two separate legislatures would be set up in Ireland, one in the north and the other in the south. These would be charged with selecting a council of forty out of which the government hopes a permanent parliament for all Ireland can be formed.

Detroit, Nov. 12—Postmaster Nagel has decreed that all women employed in the postoffice while on duty must wear gray chambray aprons beginning December 1. As a result of the edict the women have issued a challenge to the postmaster's right to dictate their style of dress.

Nagel maintains that by wearing gray, dress rivalry will be curbed efficiency promoted, and morals protected. A mass meeting will be held, probably Saturday, when all postal employes will be asked to sign a protest. Women assert they will carry their protest to Washington if the order is enforced.

THEY ALL WERE AMERICANS

Interesting Observations on the Product of the Melting Pot by Frederick Palmer.

Where were the foreigners? I wondered as I looked at the faces in the streets upon my return from Europe. The French, who had heard much of our polyglotry, asked this question when they saw our soldiers marching along the roads of France. In French eyes the men were all of the type American. Yet they included foreign born, as well as sons of every race in Europe, Frederick Palmer writes in Harper's.

Are you Americans? their adopted country asked of them in those trying days. They gave their answer in sacrifice at home and in battle, often fighting against an enemy of their own blood. Zalinskis, Einsteins, Schmidts, Bertellis, Katsanjans won the Distinguished Service Cross, thrilling our pride with a new sense of nationalism. Had they now reverted to loyalty to the lands of their origin? If so, what had wrought the change in their hearts?

To my fresh view all the people were distinctively Americans in garb and taste; in their complexion, which our climate so promptly affects; in their brusque and frank civility, their intensity, their pleasures, and their restless motion. Later, as I became settled at home and more discerning, I might note that this or that person was of Swedish, Italian, Hungarian or Slav stock. Then I would see through the veneer, as I was told. But aren't most of us—again, not a new idea—who are "off the reservation," of foreign stock? My people missed the Mayflower and came over in 1636. I could not discern that the descendants of the Pilgrims were more American than I was or than a dark eyed telephone girl whose father was an Italian immigrant.

Not even in the mean streets did I find patches. I saw no shriveling babies in emaciated mothers' arms on bread lines in the European sense, though conditions were bad enough from the point of view of desired standards which must ever call our ambition away from stagnation of "everything is for the best in the best of worlds." In place of saloons in mean streets and average streets, new stores and restaurants had appeared. How clean the restaurants were compared to those of the same class in Europe? How wholesome was their atmosphere!

WAR ON DISEASE WORLD WAR

Health Problems of the Remotest Land Is the Concern of All Peoples.

The war against disease is a world war. Commerce carries dangerous infections, as well as goods and ideas. The health problems of the remotest land concern all peoples. More and more, nations are coming to recognize their interdependence in health as in industry, government, science, and culture. There are even now foreshadowings of world-wide co-operation in combating the maladies which have long threatened humanity. For this new campaign leaders are needed to extend the frontiers of medical science, to teach, to organize, to administer. Demonstrations are required to convince communities and nations that diseases can be controlled and even eradicated. The Rockefeller Foundation, enlisted for this world-wide campaign against disease, is co-operating with many agencies in five continents, is fostering the growth of international confidence and good will, and is seeking the fulfillment of its chartered purpose—"to promote the well-being of mankind throughout the world."

Fuel Oil for Railroads.

The great scarcity of coal has caused the Paris, Lyons, and Mediterranean Railway company to transform some of its motive power from coal to fuel oil consumption, which is about to be followed by the Chemin de Fer de l'Etat, or state-owned railway, and engines at its shops at Saintes are now undergoing changes for experimental purposes. Much attention is being directed to the announcement that the first-named railway company is planning to equip 200 locomotives for fuel oil and install numerous storage reservoirs of from 40 to 100 tons' capacity at various points on its lines.—Scientific American.

Census Involves Much Work.

The 110,000,000 cards needed to record the population of the United States in the new census made a stack more than ten miles high. Without machinery it would be almost impossible to manage a census nowadays. It took seven years to complete and publish the census of 1880, and nine years to complete the census of 1880. By means of electrical mechanism which punches something like 4,000,000 cards a day, the cards are now sorted and tabulated in weeks instead of years. The device also saves expense and eliminates error.

Forewarned.

A little girl was sent to fetch some milk from a neighbor. She took with her two cans.

On arriving home she was crying and bespattered with mud.

Mother saw at once that her darling had had a fall and asked if she had lost all the milk.

"No mother, not a drop."

"And how did my clever little darling manage that?" mother asked.

"I knew I was going to fall, mother, so I stood the cans down."—Answers, London.

Hypo-Cod Ideal After Sickness

Brings Back Strength, Steady Nerves, Good Appetite —Digestion.

MRS. STODDARD SAYS IT DOES WORK QUICK

"I suffered from a nervous breakdown following a spell of sickness last Spring. I know what it means to linger for weeks and months after a sick spell in a weak condition and unable to work or walk," declared Mrs. Ella N. Stoddard, 140 Maple Ave., Johnstown, Pa.

"It took seven bottles of Hypo-Cod to put me entirely back on my feet but after using it only a few days I know I was on the right track Goodness but how that medicine does build you up. It knocked all that dizziness out of me and I am doing my own work and feeling in splendid health," declared Mrs. Stoddard.

Real often people go to work and expose themselves too soon after a spell of sickness. To avoid all such danger and ward off complications so apt to follow a sick spell, come down to the drug store and get a bottle or two of Earle's Hypo-Cod. It is a splendid reconstructive tonic and promptly revives the weakened system to vigorous health according to thousands of users. Chemists, druggists and nurses endorse it. Read the formula on a bottle at your druggist's today.

Earle's Hypo-Cod is sold here by all good druggists and the leading druggists in all nearby towns. 1t

'WELL, OLD MAN, HOW ARE YOU?"

If Your Blood is Rich and Red You Say, "Fine."

ENTHUSIASM IS RED-BLOODED

Try Pepto-Mangan if You Feel Weak and Look Pale.

Sometimes you are almost down and out. You know you are not really sick, but you have a peetered-out feeling. You eat little. You drag along. In the morning you look at your face in the mirror. You feel years older when you see how pale and haggard you are.

It is your blood. It needs red corpuscles. Instead of poking along half sick, why don't you try taking Pepto-Mangan, the blood tonic? It has just the ingredients weak blood needs. With red blood your energy and enthusiasm return. You eat better. You tackle work and achieve.

Pepto-Mangan is widely and heartily endorsed by physicians. It is effective and easy to take. It is sold in both liquid and tablet form. The medicinal properties are identical.

Sold at any drug store. But be sure to get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's". Ask for it by name and be sure the full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on the package.

LEARNED COURSE OF LIGHT

Knowledge That Has Made Possible the Perfection of Delicate Instruments of Science.

In the days before the manufacture of glass was as well perfected as it is today mirrors with uneven, imperfect surfaces were often turned out. When one looked into these the face would appear to be distorted or bent out of shape, owing to the different angles at which the light was reflected.

Much the same thing occurs when we place a stick in the water so that one end is above the surface and the other end below. There appears to be a distinct bend in the stick, the part below the water looking like it makes a complete angle with the portion above. This is due not to any action of the water upon the stick, but to an alteration in the direction of the rays of light, known as "refraction."

The air and the water being of different densities, the light cannot pass through both of them in the same direction, and it is the rays themselves—rather than the stick—which are bent or distorted, though we have the impression that the stick has been affected.

Increased knowledge of the principles which go to reflection, refraction and other courses of light have, in comparatively recent years, made possible the great improvement of the microscope, the telescope, the camera and other apparatus on which [illegible] depend.—Chicago Journal.

OF SAME ORIGIN AS COAL

Wood Believed to Have Been the Basis of Jet Used for Centuries for Ornaments.

Jet is a sort of lignite or anthracite coal, cut and polished, which is the best known in weight and texture of the hundred kind of stone. It is [illegible] Britain since [illegible] time, and was [illegible] the bronze age for [illegible] and [illegible] beads, buttons, rings, amulets and other ornaments.

Julius Caesar [illegible] as the [illegible] use of jet in Britain and [illegible] ornaments are found with Roman relics in Spain, the Duke of Northumberland's museum at Alnwick castle [illegible] jet for rosary beads at Whitby abbey and at Whitney, where it was found in the greatest abundance. It occurs in irregular masses in hard shale known as jet rock.

Often microscopic examination discloses coniferous wood in the composition of jet. It is probable that jet was developed when masses of wood drifted down a river, rotted or became waterlogged and sank out at sea, becoming gradually buried in a deposit of fine mud, which hardened eventually into shale. Sometimes drops of bitumen are found in jet cavities, which seems to confirm the suspicion of its wood origin.

No Great Harm Done.

Jacinta, knowing that her playmate Jack wanted a kitten, picked one up one day when it started to follow her and [illegible] it over to Jack's [illegible] for the [illegible]

"Jacinta!" said her mother, on finding out what she had done, "don't you know you have no right to sell or even give away a kitty that isn't your own?"

"Well," said the young business woman, "I guess I can [illegible] home when it gets [illegible] can't it?"

INDUSTRIAL SITUATION DISCUSSED

"Pittsburgh steel interests are invading England and underbidding English concerns 25 per cent on contracts," said Dwight T Farnham, industrial engineer of St. Louis, who is attending the convention of industrial engineers, being held in Pittsburgh now. Discussing the industrial situation of Europe as he learned it in a five months' tour of Europe, Mr. Farnham said English steel interests were worried by the invasion of Americans, but were vitally interested in American methods

Mr Farnham said Germany was not "broke," but was hard at work and that recently German steel men went into England and underbid British interests about £100,000 on the erection of a gas plant. English steel men asked three years to complete the work, but the German bidders agreed to complete it in three months and got the contract.

"Germany is solidly organized commercially and is producing," Mr Farnham said "Big business and labor control the government.

"German engineering societies are studying new methods of efficiency Efforts are being made to work out some method of stabilizing the rate of exchange, a sore spot at present. There is some distress, principally among the people with fixed incomes — retired professors, small grocers, etc."

As to the possibility of Germany and Soviet Russia effecting a working alliance, Mr. Farnham said:

"Suppose you and I were locked up in a room alone. You had bread and I had water to exchange I think we might manage to get together. Russia has a organized brains and that's a thing Germany has specialized in And bear this in mind—Germany will not stay "locked" any longer than she has to Before the war nearly all the factories in Russia were managed by Germans."

Thermometer Deterioration.

Even thermometers become old and consequently inaccurate with age, mercurial instruments reading too high and spirit instruments too low. In the former case the bulb appears to shrink, thus forcing the quicksilver too far up the stem. This gradual shrinkage is supposed to be due to the fact that the external pressure on the bulb may be considerably greater than the internal pressure, the air as far as possible having been removed before the glass is sealed. On the other hand the spirit thermometer is sealed with the bulb covered in a freezing mixture in order to look up in the glass as much air as possible. The instrument thus starts with the internal pressure which in time appears to be reduced either by expansion of the glass under the internal pressure or by leakage.—Scientific American.

Organized to Fight Plant Pests.

The Plant Protection Institute is the name of a body formed recently for the purpose of waging relentless war on the pests that afflict field and orchard crops, shade trees and ornamental plants. It is will do its support in all directing scientific research by fostering co-operation between investigators and manufacturers and by disseminating information concerning the control of plant insects and diseases. The members are all scientific experts of manufacturers of insecticides, fungicides, apparatus, etc., used in the work of extermination.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

The HOOVER

IT BEATS .... AS IT SWEEPS AS IT CLEANS

Reserve Your Hoover Now and Avoid Waiting Later!

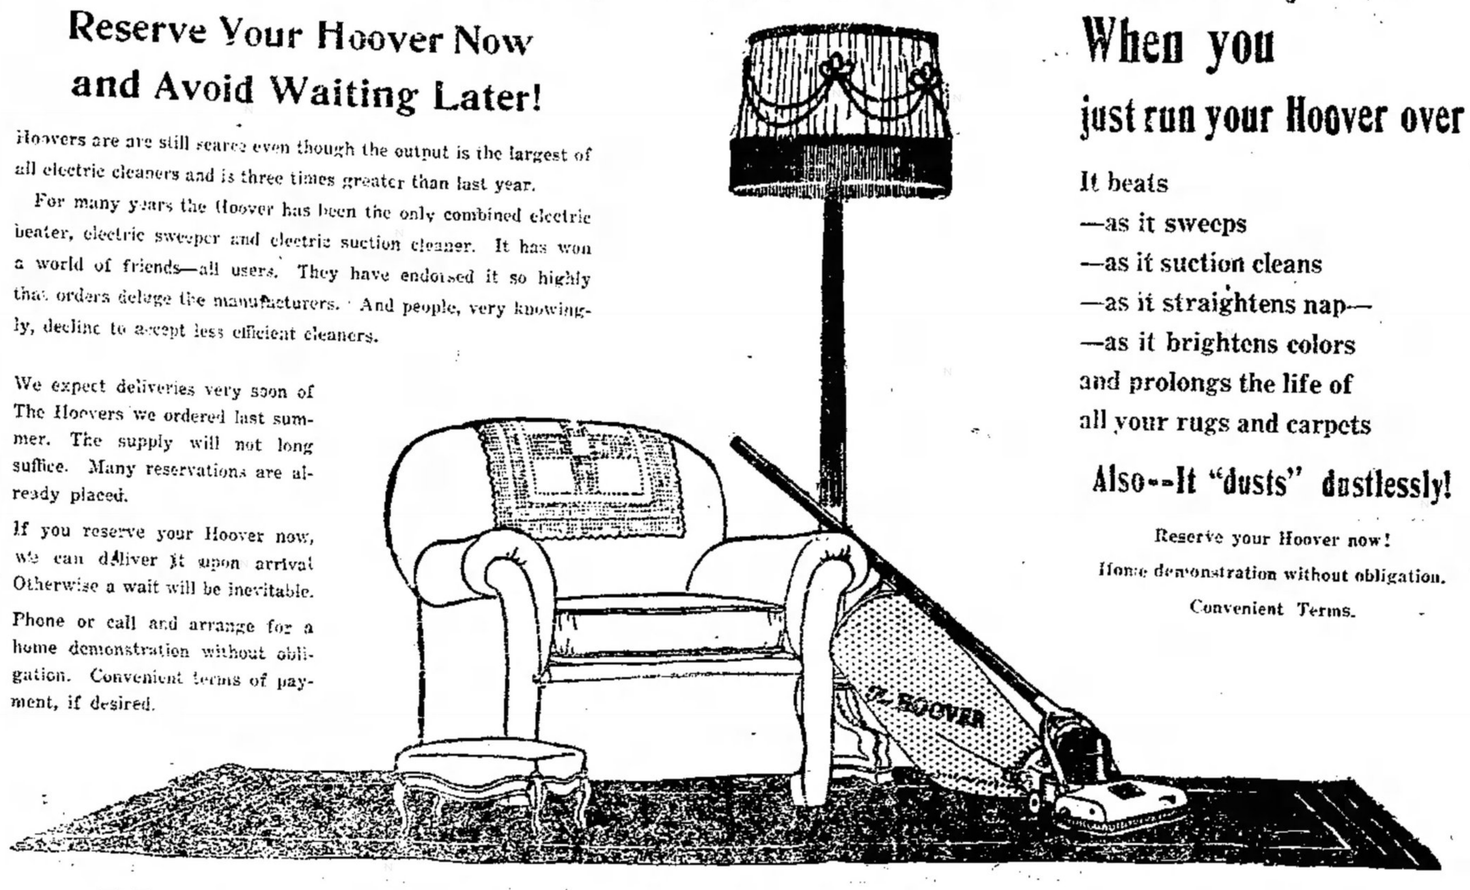
Hoovers are are still scarce even though the output is the largest of all electric cleaners and is three times greater than last year.

For many years the Hoover has been the only combined electric beater, electric sweeper and electric suction cleaner. It has won a world of friends—all users. They have endorsed it so highly that orders deluge the manufacturers. And people, very knowingly, decline to accept less efficient cleaners.

We expect deliveries very soon of The Hoovers we ordered last summer. The supply will not long suffice. Many reservations are already placed.

If you reserve your Hoover now, we can deliver it upon arrival Otherwise a wait will be inevitable.

Phone or call and arrange for a home demonstration without obligation. Convenient terms of payment, if desired.



When you just run your Hoover over

It beats
—as it sweeps
—as it suction cleans
—as it straightens nap—
—as it brightens colors and prolongs the life of all your rugs and carpets

Also--It "dusts" dustlessly!

DIAMOND GEM OF ROMANCE

Precious Stone, Which Never Dies, Has in All Ages Been Theme of Wondrous Stories.

Diamonds and romance are synonymous terms in history. Some of these crystal baubles, one writer, Gardner Williams, relates, have gleamed weirdly in the eye sockets of idols in Indian temples, or flashed from the splendid thrones of emperors, or glittered in golden basins amid gems of every hue, heaped up in tribute, or sparkled on the crests of warriors, the turbans of rajahs, the breasts of begums and the sandals of courtesans.

To win diamonds temples have been profaned, palaces looted, thrones torn to fragments, princes tortured, women strangled, guests poisoned by their hosts and slaves disemboweled. Some have fallen on battlefields, to be picked up by ignorant freebooters and sold for a few silver coins, and others have been cast into ditches by thieves, or swallowed by guards, or sunk in shipwrecks, or broken to powder in moments of frenzy. No strain of fancy in an Arabian tale has outstripped the marvels of fact in the diamond history.

The diamond never dies. It is the most impenetrable of all known substances. It is the most perfect reflector of light. No acid will mar it; no solvent will dissolve it. Its brilliance is undecaying, and ages might roll by without rubbing the minutest particle from its adamantine face.

HE WAS NEVER THE LOSER

Lawyer's Explanation of Statement That at First Seemed Remarkable Made It Quite Plain.

A young university graduate, just admitted to the bar, was taken into partnership with an old lawyer who had been highly successful in the practice of his profession, but whose age was fast telling on him. On the first day of the new partnership the old lawyer gave the junior partner quite a lengthy discourse on the ethics, customs, tricks, etc., of the profession.

"And, remember, I never lost a case," he concluded impressively.

Imagine, then, the junior partner's surprise when, on the very next day, a telegram came from the Supreme court of the state reversing a decision which had been favorable to the senior partner in the lower courts. The junior partner hesitated somewhat to inquire into the matter, but his youth was irrepressible.

"What's the matter?" he demanded of the old lawyer. "I thought you told me you never lost a case."

"I haven't lost a case," calmly denied the old man. "I was paid a retainer in advance. I never lose a case, but sometimes my clients do!"

English Corn Laws.

The corn laws were a series of enactments dating back to the reign of Edward III, by which England sought to encourage the home production of grain. The levy of a tax on imports, the prohibition of imports, and export duties were among the means of the end. As a rule the taxes varied with the price of home-grown grain. If the price varied from a stated level the tax was increased or decreased automatically. As England grew in importance in manufacturing, and the effect of the laws was to burden the people, agitation for the repeal of the corn laws became more and more insistent, until 1846, when Sir Robert Peel succeeded in having them repealed. Shortly afterward England adopted a policy of practical free trade, realizing that as an exporting nation her trade would be under more favorable conditions.

Wings of Lace.

The wings of the lace wing fly are, as its name implies, very much like lace in appearance. The wings really consist of very fine gauze, much more perfectly made than the finest handmade lace.

One peculiarity about this fly is that it hangs its eggs up by a fine silk thread, sometimes singly and at other times in bundles, instead of laying them on the branch of a tree or in a hole or corner, as do most other flies.

The eggs are also peculiar in that they change color. When first laid they are green, but just before hatching they become white.

This fly is a great friend and assistant of the gardener, for it attacks the green flies which do so much destruction to currant and other fruit trees.

Butterflies for Collectors.

Agriculture is as far advanced in the United States as in any other country in the world, but thus far there are no farms in this country on which fine specimens of butterflies are raised, according to those interested in the study of these insects. In this respect, England is ahead of this country, for in the county of Kent there is a butterfly farm whose product goes to collectors, choice specimens bringing as much as $50. An average of 500 butterflies a day is raised on the English farm, where 70,000 caterpillars are maturing at the same time.

Self-Effacement.

"Leonidas!" exclaimed Mrs. Meekton, "are you aware that I was reading my essay on politics aloud to you?"

"Yes, my dear."

"But you went to sleep."

"Why not? You removed every problem so completely that I saw no further reason for retaining personal consciousness."

TONSILITIS

Sick Tonsils threaten the Entire System

The importance of the warning given by a raw or rusty feeling in the throat is evident from the attention modern doctors are paying to the tonsils. The tonsils are spongy growths that lodge disease germs readily—diphtheria, scarlet fever, etc. They need watching.

At the first sign of soreness back in the region of the tonsils, get a jar of Krew-Pina and apply nightly to the throat—rub it in well and put a little in the nostrils. When in bed, draw up the bed clothes so that they form a funnel between throat and nostrils, and inhale the medicinal vapors.

Krew-Pina is the celebrated family ointment composed entirely of simple home remedies such as Oil of Pine and other volatile oils from a formula that makes these harmless ingredients powerful to relieve and heal. Invaluable as a preventative and in cases of cold, bronchitis, cough and whooping cough, croup, stiffness, lame back, bruises and stone bruises, burns, cuts, etc. 30c and 60c jars with printed directions for using—at your druggist's.

A new clerk in an Anderson department store was asked by a woman customer where she might find mosquito bar. The girl, misunderstanding, answered:

Then studying a moment after seeing the puzzled look of the customer, she begged pardon and said hurriedly that the mosquito bar was in the basement.

Rubber Imports Increase.

A marked increase in the amount of crude rubber imported into this country is shown by figures for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920, compiled by the National City Bank of New York. During the year 604,000,000 pounds were imported, as compared with 152,000,000 in 1919. Two-thirds of the amount imported was used for auto tires.

Old Lady Pleads for Young Burglar

San Francisco, Nov. 12.— Degraded and despised, John Evans stood before Superior Judge Michael Roche. Perhaps he had heard of such a thing as eternal hope, but it seemed to have forsaken him.

He had pleaded guilty to that meanest of offenses against thieves. He had tried to snatch a purse from the hands of a little gray haired old woman.

To add meanness to it all he learned that by his act he had deprived a little blind girl of an evening entertainment. The little old woman was taking the blind child to a musical when the purse-snatching episode occurred.

Judge Roche was about to pass sentence. The scratch of his pen on the book could be heard. And then up rose the little old woman from her seat in the audience.

Your honor," she said timidly, "I am Mrs. Jane Snyder. I am the one whose purse was snatched by this young man. I wish to appeal for leniency. I am sure there is some good in this young man. He might have harmed me during the struggle if he really had been a bad youth.

"In the struggle he fell down and was injured. That is how he came to be captured. The little blind girl and I went to the hospital to see him. I ask that he be placed on probation."

"You may go home feeling that you have accomplished what you came for," said Judge Roche. "The matter of probation will be taken up later."

Many Trades Taught in U.S. Army

A call went out today to recruiting officers throughout the United States to enlist 6,088 men at once for the Second Division, now stationed at Camp Travis, Texas, which is being recruited to full strength upon telegraphic orders from Major General P. C. Harris, The Adjutant General of the Army. There are needed 2,623 men for infantry, 1,263 for field artillery, 342 engineers, and 536 for the medical regiment. These soldiers must be enlisted before December 10, and the War Department has authorized that the Second Division takes priority over recruiting for any other special organization.

Until full strength has been reached, all men available for general assignment who are enlisted for any branches of the service represented in the Second Division will be sent to Camp Travis.

The capacity of the various Army schools will be doubled to accommodate flood of recruits expected. At Camp Travis all manner of trade is taught: carpentry, drawing, cabinet making, painting, sheetiron, electrical work, plumbing and printing. There is a first class agricultural school on the reservation, and a 400-acre farm with a herd of blooded stock. Quoting a War Department bulletin:

"The schools for general education are working as smoothly as any in the city of Dallas. It is amazing what rapt attention the students give to their work. Grades are established and frequent examinations held, so that men advance as fast as their ability permits. The teachers are expert civilians, getting appropriate salaries. Many of them are women and they are very much enthused with their work.

"The chaps of the Second Division as the one to be brought to maximum strength is due in greatest part to the splendid facilities offered at Camp Travis for all-year round training and to its permanency and the exceptionally agreeable surroundings for a military garrison. San Antonio is now one of the premier winter resorts of the United States, where the grass is green and flowers bloom all the year around, and zero weather is never known.

Opening Sale of Lester Pianos Players and Grands

Direct From Factory at a Saving From

$75 to $125

COMMENCING FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 12th

TEN DAYS ONLY

HAYS PLAYER PIANO $595

During This Special Sale

If there is anyone in this Vicinity that intends buying a Piano within the next six months it will pay you to come to this Sale. Never before have you been given the opportunity of buying a strictly high grade Piano like the Lester at any such reduction in price. We absolutely guarantee you the above saving. The Lester Piano is one of the finest pianos on the market today regardless of price. Quality has always reigned supreme in the Lester Factory.

Six Reasons Why You Should Buy A Lester

First—Who makes it?

The Lester Piano and the Lester Player-Piano are made complete in one mammoth factory. The same men who built the Lester thirty-five years ago are still at the head of this huge plant and have guided its destinies through its entire history. Every part of the instrument, no matter how small or how large it is, and the entire player mechanism is completely made under one roof. Through every operation in its manufacture each part is under the most rigid inspection. Only the absolutely perfect piece survives these expert examinations. This means that the Lester is a complete whole, each unit Lester made and Lester designed to fit and work perfectly with every other unit. The advantage of this is obvious.

Second—How long will it last?

Few things so truly reflect the character and honesty of the makers as pianos. The kind that is put together to sell for a price inevitably wears out in a few years. The type that is not designed properly and made conscientiously is at best but a temporary affair. At the Lester factory only the most skilled workmen are employed; only the few finest materials are used; only the most scientific designing is accepted. Everything must measure up to Lester standards—the standards that have made it prominent for a third of a century. The Lester is an object of zealous endeavor on the part of the craftsman who make it—men trained to the tone and quality ideals of those who first conceived the Lester Piano. The remarkable stamina and durability of the Lester is phenominal, and the manner in which all Lesters hold their original sterling qualities of tone, action and finish makes them leaders in the field of high grade instruments.

Third—The tone

The piano is more than a machine. The art equation must be instilled into the inanimate materials through the human element, to the end that the tone shall be pure, clear, sweet and true. In the Lester this has been attained to a remarkable degree. Not only is the voicing of the instrument rich and mellow, but scientific construction enables it to hold its tone for an indefinite length of time. It stays in tune.

Fourth—The action

The action is the heart of the piano or player-piano. In the Lester it is easy and responsive. This means that expression and interpretation on the Lester soon become natural and instinctive. On the player-piano, the average person can play like a finished musician. The action of the Lester is so balanced and so free from friction that there is virtually no wear whatever incident to the playing. It lasts.

Fifth—Design and finish

The design of the Lester is simple and artistic. Purity of line is sought, rather than elaborate, fancy scrolls. It will not become "out of date". Its superlative finish is exquisite and lasting. No matter what your style of furniture, you can get a Lester to match. Any wood, in any finish—satin, bright or craftsman—can be furnished.

Sixth—Guarantee

The guarantee of the Lester Piano Company amply protects the purchaser of any instrument bearing its name. The pianos and players carry their own message of tone and quality, and the commercial standing of the firm behind them assures perfect protection to every buyer. It is through satisfaction that this immense Lester business has been built—satisfaction of more than one hundred thousand users in all parts of the world. Could more than a hundred thousand people be wrong?

Friday, November 12th will be our Opening Day. You are invited to call afternoon or evening—Special Music by Pittsburgh talented people. 2 to 4:30 afternoon—7 to 9 evening. Come, you are welcome.

When Is a Party Not a Party?

"How do you know that it is so?" "A certain party told me."

The foregoing conversation was overheard recently. The second speaker should have said, "A certain person told me," not, "a certain party."

This use of the word "party" for "person" is quite common, but it is condemned by all authorities on English grammar as being incorrect. Some, indeed, go as far as to call it vulgar.

It should be remembered however, that the word "party," meaning an individual, has a proper place in English. We may speak of "a party to a contract," or "the party of the first part," or "the parties to the marriage." Woolley's "Handbook on Composition" gives the following sentence as an example of the correct use of the word: "The parties to the marriage were both young." The following is given as incorrect: "The party who wrote that article must have been a scholar."—Columbus Dispatch.

Believed In Asking Advice.

Along comes this story, which is a good one even if it never happened. Recently a young man was standing in front of a theater about eight o'clock, when a stranger stepped up and said:

"Say, is this a good show?"

"Well, I think so," was the answer.

"Well, you see," said the first speaker, "I can't afford to spend an awful lot on shows, and so I try to pick out the best ones, and decided this week that I would ask the opinion of a stranger, because, of course, the box office people would say it was all right anyhow. So you think I'd better see it?"

"I sure do," replied the other.

The man took the advice and bought a ticket, and as he entered the house the other fellow smiled a quiet smile. He was the author of the play.

A Word for the Teacher.

There are a great many other things I would do differently if I were going through school again. Here is just one more I would like to mention; I'd be a little more considerate of the teacher. There is once in a while an ornery one, I admit, but on the average they are a mighty nice, patient, friendly, helpful lot of girls. They work hard, get none too much pay and even less appreciation, and do us all a great deal of good.—The Cave Scout in Boys' Life.

Something to Draw.

"Here's a request for a vehicle."

"What sort of a vehicle?" asked the [illegible]

The Passion for Haste.

A Japanese baron visited the University of California, and on leaving was put aboard a partly filled local car.

At the junction the party transferred to a much crowded through car. Japanese courtesy weathered the test so far as manners went, but the baron could not resist the question, "Why did we leave the comfortable car for this one which is so crowded?"

He was told: "Oh, we save two minutes getting into San Francisco."

"Ah," said he, "and what will we do with the two minutes?"

Wasn't Open.

A rather green countryman had just returned from his first visit to New York.

"Well, Si," said the postmaster, "what did you think of the metropolis?"

"Wat say?" gawked the other, stumped by so big a word.

"I asked how did you like the metropolis?"

Oh, that—wasn't open," said Si.—Boston Transcript.

Crowning Triumph.

Little Norman and his two playfellows were boasting about their parents and their belongings. "My father," said Norman, "is going to build a house with a steeple on it."

"That's nothing," exclaimed Willie scornfully. "My father has just built a house with a flagpole on it."

Tim, who had been listening in gentle weariness for a moment, then burst out: "Oh, that's nothing. My father is going to be in a home [illegible]"

Great Tragedy

The greatest tragedy in life is that of a mother denied the love of her son. Time, it is said, heals all wounds, but heart wounds never forgotten never heal and the mother's love for her son, of the sort "that passeth all understanding," is never forgotten.

Jacqueline Florlot proves that statement in "Madame X", a Goldwyn masterpiece playing at the Olympic theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday. Turned from her home by the unjust suspicions of her husband she is denied the love of her son and seeks solace in the underworld of Paris. Years pass, but like Banquo's ghost, the love for her son will not down. And in the end she finds him, placed through a strange trick of fate as counsel for her defense for a crime committed to save her husband's career from ruin.

THOUGHT MAN WAS CRAZY

"I have suffered from stomach and liver trouble for years, the last two years people have been calling me crazy. The doctors could not do anything for me. The awful bloating of gas seemed to press against my brain and I could not think clearly. Three months ago a friend advised taking Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and it has worked wonders in my case. All my bloating and suffering is gone and I feel as though newly born." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sold at Crag's Drug store and good druggists everywhere. 1t
